648 pages, 1,100 photos and colour distribution maps in 19 x 28 cm format (SEOF Ed.)

This book written in French and English presents the 582 bird species that have been recorded in Morocco, a key country located at the crossroads between the Western Palearctic and the Sahel that covers a wide range of environments, from coastal areas to the highest peaks (4167 m), from lagoons and marshes to deserts. 215 species regularly breed there, 188 migrate twice a year, 167 are regular winter visitors and 154 are considered as accidental. The systematic list summarizes the status, phenology, distribution, habitat and breeding of each species, as well as the origin of migrants and winter visitors. Distribution maps illustrate the breeding and wintering areas. The book also contains information on the history of ornithological surveys, geography and climate, the various environments, the general characteristics of the avifauna, a comprehensive bibliography and an index of locations.
